"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

WE HEAR YOU! WHATZ!!!!

We totally agree with you as this book was as much a surprise to us and lost on WWWG's crack marketing team as this is even "odd" book by Emil standards.

While all agreed that the illustrations were OK but, on a first read the text, we collectively agreed that Emil had finally shattered the glass ceiling of insanity in commercial publishing and then, as if some strange virus seeped in; one-by-one, our young marketers came to me (in private) saying that "On rereading, I think I get it..."

WOW!! This is a first!

I then reread it and had to admit that Emil has a weird way of doing it but, he does make some good points here. Read on if you care to get it, too.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?" I AM BUT, A STRANGER...

Still early but...we travel so much slower these days,
I thought I would get an early start on it...

MERRY CHRISTMAS...

Hey! Screw all this New Age, WOKE HARMONY SHIT of "Happy Holidays" or "Seasons Greeting" as I come from a different time, a place so far removed from this that I feel like Moses:

"I am but, a stranger here in this strange land..."

I am looking for Dr. E. Brown to take me back as I had to hock my ruby slippers back in OZ to get transit, Virus
Plague Transit Papers and now I want to go home!

Brother, Hey Dude! Spare a dime, a quarter ???

I need all your chump change as there is a Happy Meal calling my name!

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

ARE YOU REALLY A FOREIGN DEVIL ?

Any experienced Hobo Adventurer will flash you a knowingly smile when this subject is addressed and if they are honest with you; they will bore you to no end with an endless, ongoing series of very hour-long recounting of events/situations that will no doubt sound humorous to the untrained or untraveled denizen of the First World and some may actually be true – Seriously!

Book burning can destroy the records, exclude the truths of mankind's progression but, they cannot remove it from the collective mind of the scribes and the storytellers.

Fact becomes rumor and then descends into legend or is totally dismissed as a good story "but, is only mythology" and yet, now, millions of people still hang on every passage in the "Brave Tales of Ulysses" and no one can still recall any of the names of those who tried so desperately to destroy the truth. This is not new or restricted to Nazis. It is as old as humanity and as fresh as today's "Breaking News."

The first Emperor of China's very first deed was to destroy the ancient libraries and burn the ancient scrolls. He did this to personally restart history with himself as its first leader.

He determined that for him to live forever, he must destroy all memories of what had been before and that his people would have no way to challenge his greatness as the father of Chinese History.

In the end, he failed as there were volumes of ancient knowledge that survived, were spirited away to remote monasteries where for thousands of years, humble monks work diligently and devoted their lives to copying and then, recopying each of these now priceless scrolls.

THE LANGUAGE OF TIME

While others were committed to the ancient tradition of verbal memory and this became the modern art of storytelling. Still other works were guarded and their hidden guidance became the core believes and secret rituals of all the world's secret societies.

Mao created a deadly Cultural Revolution under the misguided believe that he (like the first Emperor) could rewrite history to his favor and (as the Navaho Indians believe) live forever like a Greek god in the Universal Pantheon of Time.

Even the Bible (from God's words) warns us that "All that is...has been before" and that there is "Nothing new under the sun..." If you ponder and chew on this for a while; it becomes increasingly true but, I also agree with the belief that we are like Graham Handcock tells us "We are a world with amnesia..."

WOW!

Where else, Campers...Seriously, where else these days can you get such a freebase of thoughts and images so thoughtfully stirred - not shaken and then, ever carefully mixed-n-matched with a test proven, scratch-n-sniff version of World History? From the First Emperor of China to a failed artist formally known as Hitler, continuing all the way down to Mao (former CEO of China Inc.) and Pol Pot and this delivers us most properly down to our present day, storming into the grand throne rooms of our new Corporate Master Overlords from the famed TWIT, Amazon and over to the most noble Googled.

See Campers...what they all have in common is a deep, pure desire to seize control the world by resetting history back to page one and more importantly for our new corporate masters to chew on... “All of those who came before; they all failed and in the end, this is how history best remembers each of them...” Juz a kind word of warning out to the barricades freely manned by all those bold, Warrior of the Woke and like Stevie King wrote... “You can’t go changing history/the past/the present/time itself without them (collectively) pushing back on you...” Stevie believes that history like the present, the future and our role in it was madidated by a script written eons ago while considering that its original producers are not fans of their minor characters trying to go all Marlon Brando (artistic reinterpretation) on their established scripted, storyline. See...the way I figure it is that this group of Time/History has a common distaste for any/all bit players or anyone (for that matter) trying to hijack or steal the show by trying to rewrite the approved script...trying to improvise upon the storyline.

“Damn the Actors Guild!”

Seems...that History/Time and their fellow travelers are a closed, non-union shop and if you are listening at all; they are upfront in telling you that “little guys and union organizers are far from welcomed” but if we are being truthful...they don’t care much for freelancers or do they believe in the right-to-work.

No matter what they tell us...

No matter how hard they try...to convince you otherwise...

No matter how successful they seem at the time...

In a thousand years...

OH Hell! You know that in ten years, they won't matter...

And, what they did will be marked up as just another speed bump of those who failed to reset the history of our world.

TRUE!

Even at that, I do feel a slightest tinge of sadness for them already especially since I (as they) will not be here to here to hear the next generation say in amazement (when they discover this text in a moldy book corner of their nearby Salvation Army thrift Store or Goodwill)...

"HEY! That Emil Guy called it straight up!"

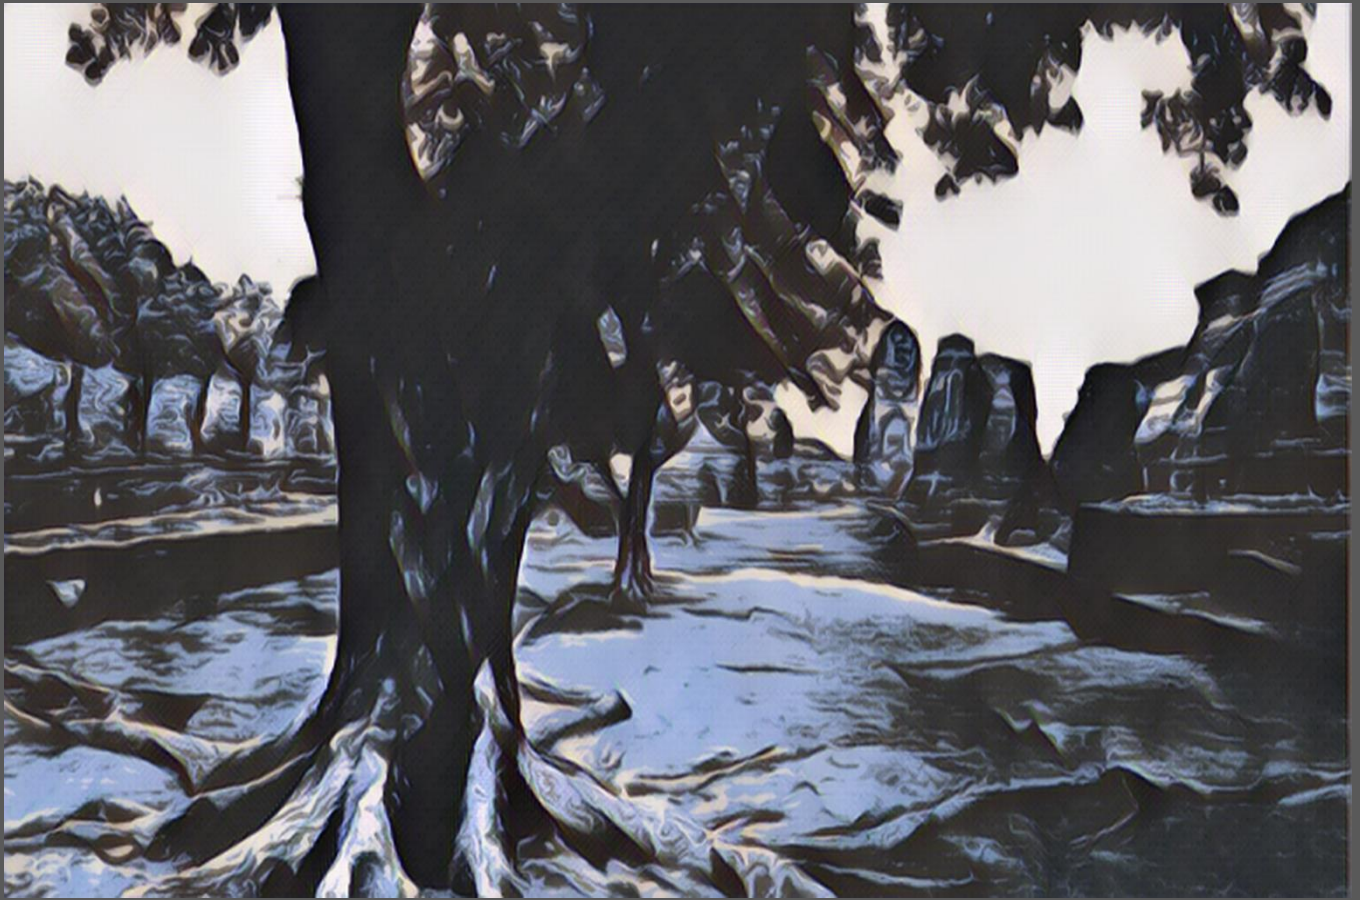

Fear not my fellow Campers, the world will continue on into yet another cycle of “learning it all over again” by hard knocks no doubt and few if any us will even be remembered by our own families...at least in my case, I didn't need to wait for that far distant date to be forgotten as I have spent generations in my family's "three denials to the Roman Guard" before the sun rises on our future world.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

There is something truly universal, a personality trait that in humans that dates far back beyond the start of our recorded history and to the time of the Holy Wars in Heaven when a vast numbers of human mercenaries (who loyally served as willing foot soldiers for Archangel Michael's brave clan of warrior angels as they rode into battle against the Separatists from the Luciferian Republic) collectively adapted Michael's fearsome, marching mantra of "You are either with us or you are against us..." as a deep core logo.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

Of all that happened during those years of conflict, to all of the many lessons that must have been learned, to all of the uncountable revelations/insights gained by traveling down those Heavenly Roads (that seemed to stretch across the universe) with Michael's Warrior Clan and given the sheer number in the legions of human mercenaries that fought next to Michael's Angel Clan in prehistory's longest, most extracted war for control of Heaven; it is really remarkable that given all of this...it is amazing that the only thing carried on by the human survivors was this ancient concept of “Us versus Them.” The only thing collectively remembered as if it lay buried in our current DNA - which still (literally) carries on...embedded across all of our many religions, the one concept that still intertwines to the central core of each of our numerous faiths, transcends each race/creed and even to a lesser extent is true in our dealing(s) with the upper economic classes.

This is my open (non-tin foil hat) theory as to where the phrase “Are you a Foreign Devil?” originates and from my extensive research in the 3rd/4th/5th worlds, it mostly seems to serve as a more polite third world way of saying to strangers “you are different and do not belong here...”

When I was younger, I lived through a stormy era of world history fraught with bitter angers and despite all this; there was an entire generation who took up their own Cultural war...putting it out into the streets while seriously putting limb and, sometimes, even life at risk for the opposite notion of “US versus them.”

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

This entire generation had rose up to challenge their elders and society’s better judgement(s) because they believed that we are all different (all of us are individuals – no two are alike...completely different although, we share interchangeable parts...judge for yourself...take a sample...take the test...fill out all of the required the forms...get the permit...Party Hardy!!! as tomorrow we all shall die without seeing Paris...you will see it’s TRUE!).

Young rebels each and every one...even the posers...each risked much but still bravely stood on almost every street corner of the nation while striking sultry James Dean poses and professing allegiance with the simple belief that “We are willing to gather, build a new society table where we all could to join together as EQUAL allies...and make the world better!”

They had all joined together, united, strengthened by their shared belief in the extremely radical concept that each person brought something different to this new table but, that made each of us stronger and would lead to a better world where there would be no more “Us or Them.”

In doing this they were delusional in believing that this would herald in a new dawn for all of humanity for our community or even that we were all the stronger for it.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

In the end, they failed to draw a larger crowd...they never found the needed hook, found no proper slogan and were never able to reach their older brothers/sisters*...

(EDITOR NOTE: No mention of transgender back then.)

...those who had already taken their loyalty oath to society's standard quo, who had already sworn their souls in exchange for a few crumbs of society's financed awards that they understood was needed to surviving in this Material World that their elders had successfully built and each of these young, new converts happily accepted society's demand that everyone march-n-step with the harmony of the “With US or Against Us” Mantra in exchange for a piece of the action.

The Luciferian Republic had for almost a million years of its existence, held much the same belief that there was no “us or them...ONLY we.”

As it came to be then, so it is becoming the same with our present world today...with such similar minded thoughts being cast down into the great fiery pit of the new priesthood of “PC Socialism” and where (suddenly) all related notions are (NOW) considered to be forbidden thoughts that only the most serious anti-social, Pro-Luciferian revolutionary would say out loud without fearing the social-shunning, the extraction of lifetime social credit scores and even, banishment or imprisonment in re-education (Formally known as FEMA Camps under Cheney/Bush) work camps out in the deserts of Nevada/Utah.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“Foreign Devil” is not a happy term nor is it by itself evil...does that make sense? The phrase is neutral and self-explanatory in that you are a foreigner and most of us are (at some point in our life) devils.

Closely examining its user and when their actual intention(s) are examined does the phrase take on the potential of being the tool of the racist or the guilty political hack who uses it as an easy out to deflect the public’s attention away from their failures, misdeeds and/or corruption by blaming outside forces instead of taking responsibility for their failings – mostly it works very well because the concept of “Us versus Them” still lingers and festering so deep in our ancient DNA.

The phrase/words literally changes flavors with each language, sometimes even within the differing dialects of a single language and maybe, even climate (I think?) but, its meaning is near universal and as we talked about already...it is also very ancient reminder of the time when the children of man walked, fought and died with the gods.

“Are you a Foreign Devil?” is totally driven by fear...our personal and the society’s collective call for us to fear as the expression of our identification with our community, group or nation.

It is usually done in an organized manner to actively play upon our deeper fear of the unknown in order to draw a crowd that can be whipped into an ugly frenzy.

The merchants of this collective FEAR PORN purposely play

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

upon our well established fears that many times go unseen by the majority of us rubes and even, goes as far as to target our fears over our very own uncertainties in ourselves or in our abilities and all the while these Merchants of FEAR PORN create...they encourage...they seem to trigger a much deeper theme of the collective need for all of us to join together in driving out these unwanted, the unpure or even just the confusing from the harmony/peace of our community/nation. Be the truth really be known, this is not an evil conspiracy to victimize the random stranger, expat or even those who have been identified (ousted) by our social media as social misfits, the intellectual challenged or the political troublemakers like Herr Phillip Bouhler and Herr Karl Brandt had promoted as a solution for Germany in 1939; the truth is that we are taught forms of fear from a very early age by our families, learned by social pressure from our closest friends and it has been an accepted educational learning style and is a practical tool for our social training/conditioning in preparing us to take up our greater duty(s)/responsibilities of being a good denizen. Some fears are rational, some are educational or plain common sense such as putting a wet fork into an electric wall socket...this is a very good use of the fear for the better not the bad.

Herr Bouhler used scientific/academic fear to create mass agreement in 1939 Germany to approve “Kinder-Euthanasia”

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

(Child Euthanasia) even though it cut across the very grain of the German Culture and the deepest of Christian Believes. Normal German People willing gave up their rights, surrendered their freedom to the pleaders of all the Nazi Fear Porn and only after it was far too late did they realize the great error in judgement that they had made and when it was far too late to turn back. Without knowing or understanding the rest of the story, we look back a say

“WHAT EVIL MONSTERS?”

We can't begin to understand how descent people would agree to give up the nation's children (although they be disadvantaged children with health needs) to be coldly murdered not by Nazi Storm troopers in some dark back alley but by equally decent, well-educated doctors and nurses in well-staffed, supplied hospitals in a highly developed...one of the world's most civilized nations.

We can't understand, we can't begin to digest the effect that mass-media, FEAR PORN can and does created even in the minds of what we would believe to be the most rational, the best of society's good people as we have never been subject a well-funded, state organized, advertising campaign aimed to villainize a political foe or other special ethnic groups.

OK Campers...as a well read, college-trained and certified Teacher of History; what I am about to school you in may sound like racist garbage but, which is truth that was turned into a series of big lies by the grand, grand, grand daddies of the present FEAR PORN Merchants while NOT created this cultural modification art form; the Radical Republicans of the mid 1860's successfully made truth of the lies that they used to convince the good denizens of the remaining United States that all Southerners were the crude, poster children of evil (more evil than Satan...as they were found of telling) and who needed to be struck from the pages of history, shun...driven from the doorstep of polite society and cast into the wilderness with the other children of the devil...aka...the Indians* (*Native Americans)...Because they were so successful in scaring the hell of the average American; our children still are forced to read all of these many lies as if they were still God's Truth...in every school house in America...every dang school day!

What, you question God's Words???"

Except they never were God's words...they were not truths written in the bible but, they were the viral lies that the Radical republicans with the help of the allies in the media (newspaper back then - who universally had supported and aided their Republican FEAR Porn Merchants convince the greater angels of the American Trust...there were no TV...No AM Talk Radio and certainly no internet back in 1860...so it is amazing how well they did all this!)

The greatest of these Orwellian-like “UNTRUTHS” lies in the truth that (regardless of what your granddaddy told you)

Slavery was not driven by Fear Porn...

No rational player at that time would dare say that as slavery was driven by anything other than the fear of labor costs and bottom line economics not the type of fear that drove the Germans to surrender their children to be murdered.

Slavery was driven by social elitists and funded by 19th Century Corporate Gangsters, greedy local bankers and crude politos who willing to do whatever their paymasters bided them to do as their very paychecks depended upon them becoming guilty, co-conspirators in several hundred years of the festering evil of Slavery.

Slavery was an evil but, it still remains an evil that lives in many parts of the modern world even today in the open slave auctions in Benghazi and as then, the average person turns a blind eye to what is going on in Benghazi as it doesn't affect our daily lives or puts groceries on our family's dinner table.

Not much different than a factory worker in Atlanta or a shopkeeper in Savana thought in 1860...As the bible tries to

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“WAIT! HOW ABOUT SLAVERY?”

school us in the truth that there is “Nothing new under the sun...”

See...it is our human nature to be self-focused no matter how many times we try to prove otherwise and no matter how seriously we have even deluded ourselves to believe this is not true.

Human life and our ability to live in harmony with society is based solely upon the lies that we are constantly telling ourselves and gossip with our neighbors.

Otherwise...Why are you not outraged...calling for a war on the slave merchants of today and on Libya as they have not put a proper end to all this slavery nonsense???

Where are your protest signs???

Why aren't you looting the Shell Oil Company gas stations as they are a LARGE BUYER of Libyan Oil and thus a major financial backer of a slave nation???

Why are you standing in front of every European (EC) corporation demanding that they boycott Libya or that you will boycott buying their products?

Should we not sanction and call out all Libyans as being more evil than Satan for not bringing slavery to an end?

Of course not! We understand that individuals are not responsible for the actions of their government nor can we

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“WAIT! HOW ABOUT SLAVERY?”

punish them because several thousand of their countrymen are making a good living off the Slave Markets of Benghazi?

Should we NOT shame you, cast you out from polite society, cancel your life because you stood silent when slaves were being sold in Libya???

Get my point campers?

You don't because you have no skin in that game and it doesn't affect you or your family directly...and so, you turn a blind eye to the injustice and pain even though you are aware it is happening...

So tell me Campers was some little farmer outside Little Rock, who is about to lose his farm to the greed local banker because he was past due on the crop loan note that the bank held; should we not judge him by the same manner as you dismissed how you are in no way guilty of your own crimes over the Benghazi Slave Markets?

WELL????????

Be honest and tell me that the former Little Rock Farmer that much different than you and can you now see why you have been played by those greedy, corrupt Radical Republicans who

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

turned the “BIG” lies into history.

Just imagine what your history books would be teaching you if the Nazis had won World War 2 and if you are honest; you will now see how badly the kindness of the American People was betrayed by those Radical Republicans who sold the FEAR PORN Lies to the American People and who then turned over their Southern Brothers/Sisters to over 10-years of most fowl punishment into the blood-stained hands of the Radical Republicans...truthfully NOW...Don't you get it????

Don't you truly see Campers that you are still being played for rustic rubes by your generation's newest incarnation of history's greatest FEAR PORN Merchants????

Back to ya schooling...Don't forget, take notes as there might well be a quiz on this next Monday!

We were talking about how slavery was not born or was it ever driven by FEAR PORN over or about its victims; the ONLY fear involved in slavery was amongst those who benefited most directly: The Social Elitists, International Business Gangsters and the corrupt bankers who made slavery possible; and their fears were all economical...

“What if there is NO slavery?

How will I be able to keep my business going?

How can I compete against the slave labor level of wages that

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“WAIT! HOW ABOUT SLAVERY?”

my biggest competitor, the English pay their workers in Egypt? How will I be able to afford to pay off my yearly loan(s) from the banks?”

This fact that is so often forgotten after the Great War between the States (Civil War to all you Yankees!) as it didn't fit well into the politics of the later 1860's or very well into the Radical Republicans Plan to punish the southern states for their attempt to rise up/rebel for NOT Slavery but for “the right to determine their own future” no more than was the war actually fought to free the slaves (this was originally a political/military ploy by Lincoln to create a slave uprising in the South to divert General Lee's Army back to Virginia to quell a slave uprising as General Lee's Armies again neared embattled Washington DC - it didn't work out that way but the war was still won by other means).

As in all wars, the victor writes the history, they are the ones who get to declare who was friend, who was foe and in the final chapter they get to rationalize/declare why the war had needed to be fought – which in this case, it was needed as a means for corrupt politicians to justify the previously unthinkable level of death and carnage to a grieving public while clamoring to establish a reign of terror in the newly occupied southern states (not yet deemed worthy of the “of America” status yet).

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“WAIT! HOW ABOUT SLAVERY?”

Most importantly, the Radical Republicans were very successful in their selective use of FEAR PORN to get good descent people to believe that the southern states and all of the people in them were angry, war hungry and evil slave masters that now must be driven from polite society and out in the far-reaches of the wilderness with the other beasts of the devil (like the Native American aka...Indians – Like their words NOT me!).

They successful convince a majority of their fellow Americans that all of these lies were in fact the truth. Once you get a majority of the good denizens to initially agree with the lies then, it is rather easy to get them to agree to your solution(s) no matter how radical or how much they go against the grain of what most denizens actually believed – ask Herr Bouhler.. Lincoln disagreed and he was removed before he could make a case that the Radical Republicans were insane and that their solutions would insure another 20-years of deadly, covert rebellion and a far greater sedition by a far greater number of what had been descent southern folks that the Radical Republicans had convinced America that they were terrorists who needed to be put up against the nearest wall and dispatched them to God’s Judgement.

Seems like our buddy, Lincoln never got to make his case given that the only mass media was in newspapers who almost universally agreed with the Radicals and they killed him (successfully blaming Southern Terrorists instead) before he could go out on a national “Let me tell you the Truth” Speaking Tour that he actually had in the planning stage.

Go figure!

Anyway, the biggest lie that I still see mentioned in almost every history book in our schools is that ALL Southerners fought to defend and continue slavery.

This was and is a gross injustice for the vast majority of descent southern folks and farmers were drafted and peer pressured into a fight that they had been educated by their radical leaders was about FREEDOM and the right to NOT have some unelected clerks in a nearly-foreign, Federal Government telling their communities how to live their lives...

“We want to keep this a free nation!”

That was the Southern Rally for the war...it was their most effective military recruitment mantra other than “OH! By the way you have been drafted...Fight or die as a YANKEE Traitor!” It was NOT...do you even remotely believe that it ever was what the Radical Republican lies wanted you to believe:

“OH! let’s fight and die to keep slavery for the benefit of the very same people that bankrupted us and stole our farms...”

WHAT YA THINK, BUBBA?

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

SEEMING TO HAVE LEARNED NOTHING?

“WAIT! HOW ABOUT SLAVERY?”

Campers...please disregard the lies that your teacher have educated you in and with an open mind listen to the truth that the vast majority of all the farms in the southern states (in say, 1861) were owned by small family farmers who didn't own slaves, who in truth, so hated slavery as it meant that they couldn't compete against the big corporate farms (plantations). Plantations were, in reality, actually owned/operated mostly by a small group of International Business Owners, a few Elitist “Gentleman of the South” and their ever so friendly, local bankers due in large part to the unfair advantages on labor costs that slavery gave to these large corporate farms and how their vast land holdings gave them special access to the critical crop farm loans at much more descent interest rates than was given to the small family farmers by their greedy friends at the bank.

In the end, long before the war, most of the small farmers across the southern states had lost their farm/their land and like my family did in 1858...they became poor sharecroppers on the very lands that their families had made a good living farmed for over 100-years due to their inability to compete against these corporate farms with their next to non-existent labor costs and to pay off their crop loans to the bankers – who took deed to the farms and then sold the lands to the large corporate farms afterwards.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

By 1860, cotton farming wasn't for the truly faint-hearted as it was by then a world-wide market (with the England's Colonial Farmers in Egypt who were best known for the quality of their cotton and their ability to undercut prices in the rest of the market by the non-existent labor costs due to the near slave wages that they paid were allowed to pay their Arab/Asian Coolies – the Colonial English terminology not mine!) and due to the famed English Middlemen (buyers) who crisscrossed the southern states and who were never known for their generosity to pay southern farmers a descent price especially for what they considered an inferior product compared to the finer quality of Egyptian Cotton.

In 1860, the one advantage that the South had against the remaining World Cotton Market was in the sheer volume of cotton that they could deliver to market.

This was a mixed blessing in that they garnished a larger percentage of the world's market share compared to the smaller, regional markets like Egypt but, they flooded the market with so much product that it out drove the demand of the English Garment Industry (and the much smaller New England Factories) and with that they drove the price down. Being a successful Cotton Farmer in this buyer's demand market was difficult on its best day and most of the smaller family farms were bankrupted by the continued slump in market prices.

To succeed in the 1860 Cotton Market, you needed to produce mass volume, with prices so low it was even more critical to lower production costs and hold vast swatches of farm land - this is why slavery was critical for this small segment of corporate farms and ample reason as why the majority of farmers in the southern states hated the practice of slavery. Given that the Radical Republicans were so very successful in convincing a majority of Americans to believe that all Southerners needed to be punished, shun and segregated from decent, polite society and that these lies are still taught in all of our schools with no regards (at all) to the truth of the lies being taught.

In the end, the lie became truth and the truth is still denounced as an evil racist disinformation lie told by equal evil racists that by sharing here will set the TWIT on fire with shrill cries from every IP Address to burn WWWG to the ground, to form a posse to come here to Penang and drag me a couple of blocks before dumping my near lifeless body into the sewer treatment plant down by the docks (this is part of a real TWIT Post when I even tried to hint at this topic...so much for this new age of harmony, peace and unity???)

When I first read Orwell’s “1984” again (about six months back) last year, I was no longer struck in him being a prophet but...

Now, I saw him not as some great political/social prophet that many media superstars today openly claim or profess him to be but, (at least to me) he is rather sharp in his more modest role as the mere reteller of long, ugly, still continuing story that Once you discover (like Orwell did) in how to find these sidebar notices - no matter how well they attempted to hid or remove them from the main, centre stage of History’s Refrain...you will also realize just how (all too common) the same storyline is as you’ll find it running (totally) amok through the entire back pages even our most censored history books (even if they all do seem buried “Half-way-to-China” down the dark rabbit holes of the mostly overlooked/under read footnotes)

Don’t just take my word...Do your own research, Bubba!

It is a real shame that we are born in the wrong age to horse up, ride into the city and just ask a few of them Good Old Boys...call on them Radical Republicans, chat with Mao’s Cultural Revolutionary Cadres or maybe, even strike up a conversation with a distant descendent of Herr Bouhler about his equally radical solution(s) to the FEAR PORN that he so successfully help the Nazis create way back in 1939.

If we could, I would be a hoot to listen to them openingly bragging about how good they fleeced those American Rubes.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

LATER, THE NEXT MORNING IN PENANG...

After a while and I am sure a couple of angry tourists ratted me out for hogging the only temple bench, an old monk came over and asked if he could sit for a while.

“Well?” Of course, what am I gonna say...this is his house, he has a home court advantage and I once vowed to never get into a street fight with a monk.

I remember those badass monks in Vietnam...

No Coca-Cola Buddhism there!

I remember them always setting themselves on fire over some political or pressing social issue. You always passed one with real caution, especially if they smelled of petro or kerosene and NEVER, make direct eye contact.

Anyone who feels this deeply about things is not a reasonable person and you are gonna come out on the short end of that stick.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

Traveling in the lead formation(s) of the Grand Army of Khan San-Tu was quite an honor that was rarely if ever granted to a “Foreign Devil” as myself but, I was fortunate to have known/befriended his noble father when he was but a local chieftain in the then, un-unified clans of the vast Mongol Highlands and the Great Khan was but a mere child who I mostly remember as a child with a great hunger for knowledge of the world and it’s many ways.

Later, I was there to see the unification of the clans...I rode with the Khan’s father in the first wars of rich pickings in the Kingdom of Xi Xia.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

The war brought not only great new powers but, great wealth and by its end; each clan was rich beyond their wildest dreams.

Now, several generations later, Khan San-Tu is a grown man, a great warrior of who his powers are sung in young women in every village, town or outpost in the Empire.

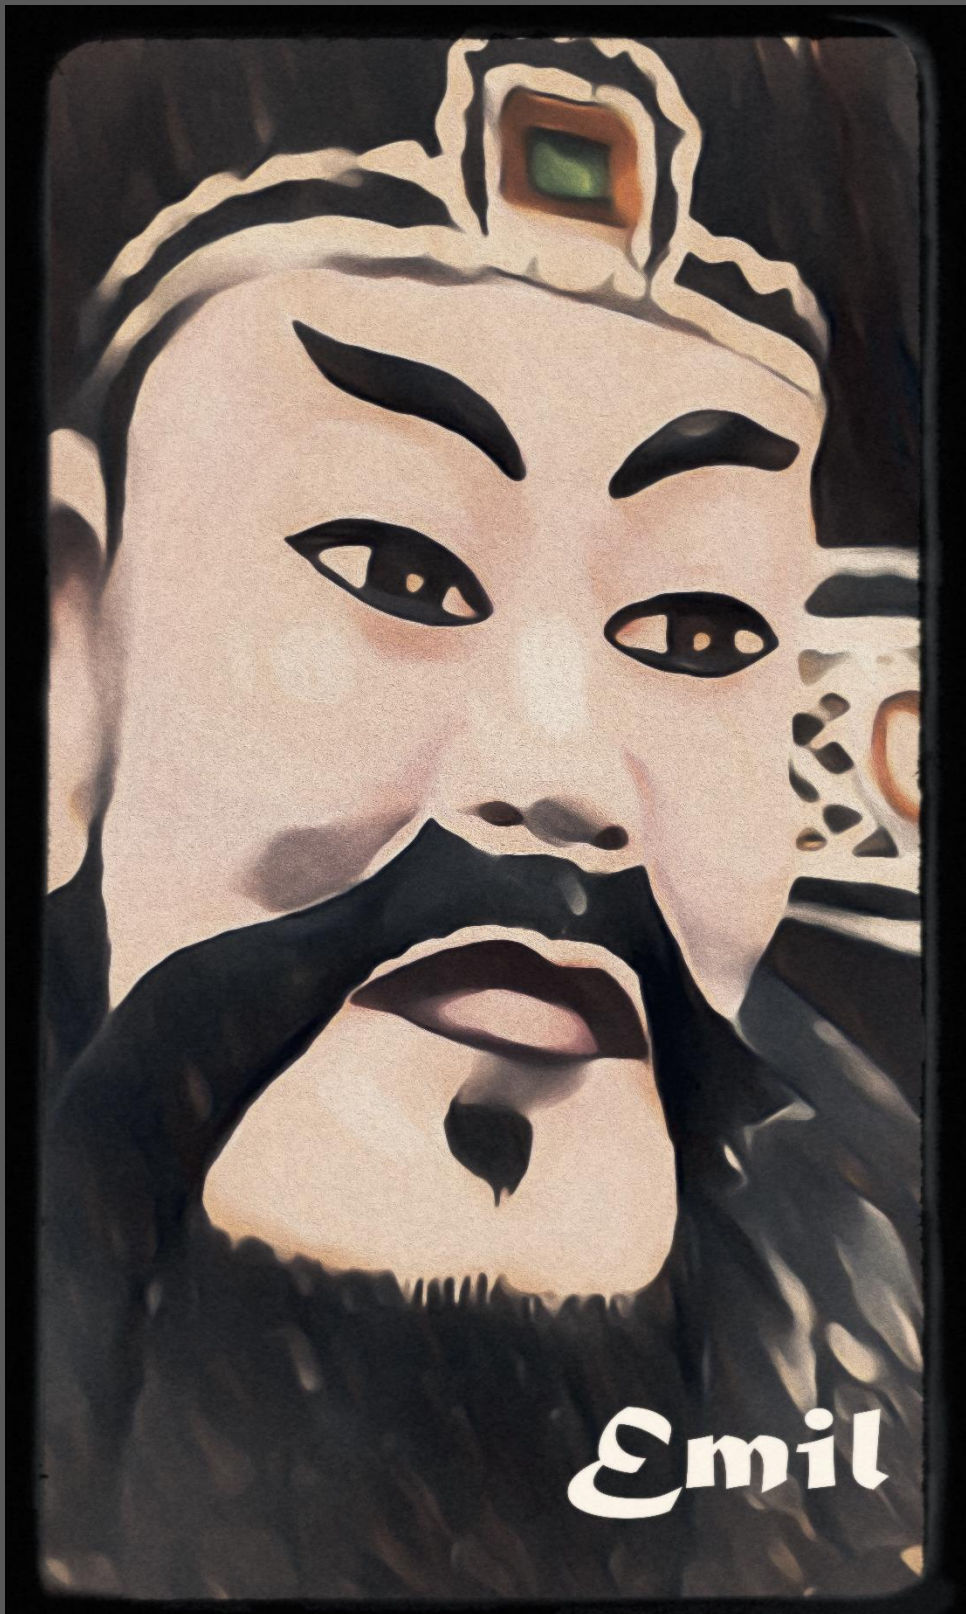

While on the other hand, I have grown into a stubborn old man who continued to ignore the desires of his family to retire and live out my final days in the peace and harmony of a cottage reserved for my family in the household of the Forbidden City.

The great thing of traveling with Khan San-Tu and his mighty horde is that they are feared as the blackest hearted, fowl creatures that few mere humans would dare stand against even in the sickest death wish desire. The reputation of this mighty fighting force was its greatest strength and to be truthful (in these later years) won the Khan many more victories than had actual fighting ever had.

It was the Khan's childhood drive to learn of the world that has served him so well in battle now and in conquering a large section of it as a grown man and even greater warrior.

In all of these years, I have yet to see him going into battle against in foe who he had not spent time learning their culture and history. In fact, I swear on all of my dead relatives (I can commit this great sin of swear as they are mostly all dead and to be truthful...I rarely cared for the whole lot of them and I had come East because of them as a young man...long story...too long for here), that the great Khan San-Tu knew more about the people he was to fight than they did about themselves.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

He always promoted knowledge as the greatest tool that a soldier has and thus, his grand army could not only write but they could read and he required them to do just that.

He once told me that he needed smart men not loyal lap dogs to surround him and since he was (in fact) smarter than all of his numerous commands assembled together; boldly, he feared not a revolt or an uprising by a smart man discovering ambition and greed.

He did play attention and for the purpose of his own security; he rotated commanders on a frequent schedule to prevent any commander building trust beyond his small core unit.

This was part of the grand game of keeping his army whole, focused and dependently loyal to his systems of rewards to his commanders. He juggled many hats, played many parts and any lesser of a man would be

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Emil

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

doomed to be his army's figurehead instead of the great warrior, the comrade of every soldier regardless of rank or status (for which he demonstrated that care for not). For all that he did...for all he was...the army loved and trusted this man with the very lives. He stood the frontline watch, he rode always ahead of his army with his legendary advance guard and was never far from the thick of any fight, small or large.

In these later days, larger villages or towns in the outlying regions that bordered upon the Empire had built defensive walls to defend their population and do to the fact that in the open field a Mongol-led army could not be defeated.

They mistakenly hoped that the walls would stop the Mongols much as the Chinese had thought that their Great Wall would too and so, they badly spent much of their kingdom's wealth in the construction of massive wall defense systems that in the end would never be tested in actual siege or battle.

Granted the inability of the Mongol Army to travel with traditional siege equipment would have seemed to be a weakness to most traditional trained military commanders but, in fact they were rarely if ever needed to conquer even the mightiest town.

What defeated even some of the most massive walls was the fear that the Khan's Army instilled within the hearts of any to be sieged town.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

The Khan's Army was an assembly of what I believe was the greatest fighting force to ever take to the field since the days of the great Alexander (whose name is also still sung today...out through the extreme wilds of the Western Deserts...I have heard this for myself) and were legendary for holding back no quarter in battle – which was always to an ugly, slow and painful death to anyone foolish enough to take arms against them.

By these later years, most of the villages, towns and sometimes, even entire kingdoms would gladly accept Khan' most generous offer before battle which involved them taking the knee, opening their city gates and treasure houses for the inspection of the Mongol Commanders (a benefit his trusted commanders to have first selection of the spoils and riches of the newly conquered city).

If the city opened its gates, swore loyalty (“Take the Knee” as we would say back in England) to the Empire and paid a tribute to the conquering army (as this is how the army paid for its advance and the logistics of its operations) it would mostly be spared from the utter, the complete destruction that would face the city if they resisted.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

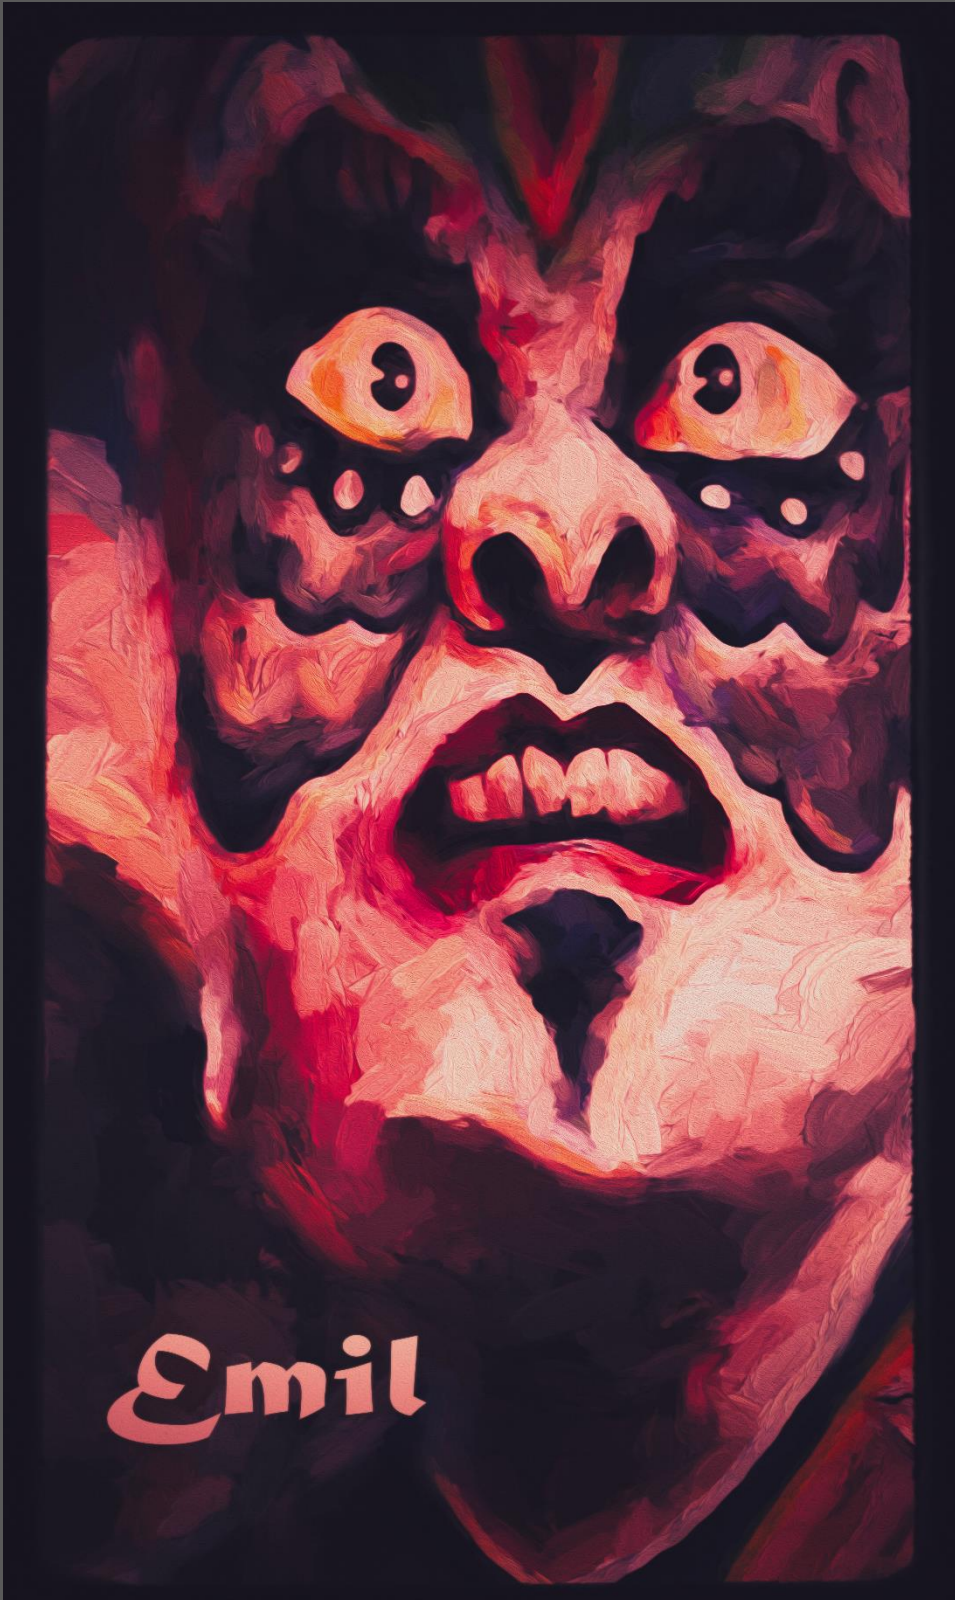

The trick was that the city must accept complete surrender once the horde started to assemble in front of the city's main gates and that any delay by the rulers of the city would endanger the treaty or increasing expand upon the level of looting, rape and even murder that the Great Khan would authorize his soldiers to participate in. Timing was a critical consideration for the town's leadership to limit the revenge that the Mongol Horde would inflict upon them for making the Mongol wait in the hot sun of the day and well understood that with every hour of delay, the Mongols would equally expand the level of the city's destruction.

Everyone knew this and pressure by the citizens of the city upon their ruling class was great and sometimes the cause of internal battles/uprisings by different political factions within the surrounded cities.

Many times now, a city will send a delegation to meet the army long before they assembled at the gates to plea for terms of surrender.

The Khan actively discouraged this practice as it did not serve his or the Empire's greater goals towards the administration of the conquered lands and gaining the support of all of its common folks – which the Khan well understood was critical to the long-term stability of Mongol Rule.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

This “willingness to surrender” would seem a good thing but, the Khan preferred to dispatch such delegations up for God’s Mercy and sometimes, depending upon his mood; the Khan might take them hostage to serve as bargaining leverage or in the rare occasion of an attractive princess or two...they were allowed to join the Khan’s private Harlem Wagons or they might be offered up as a reward to a worthy commander of the horde as a sub-wife.

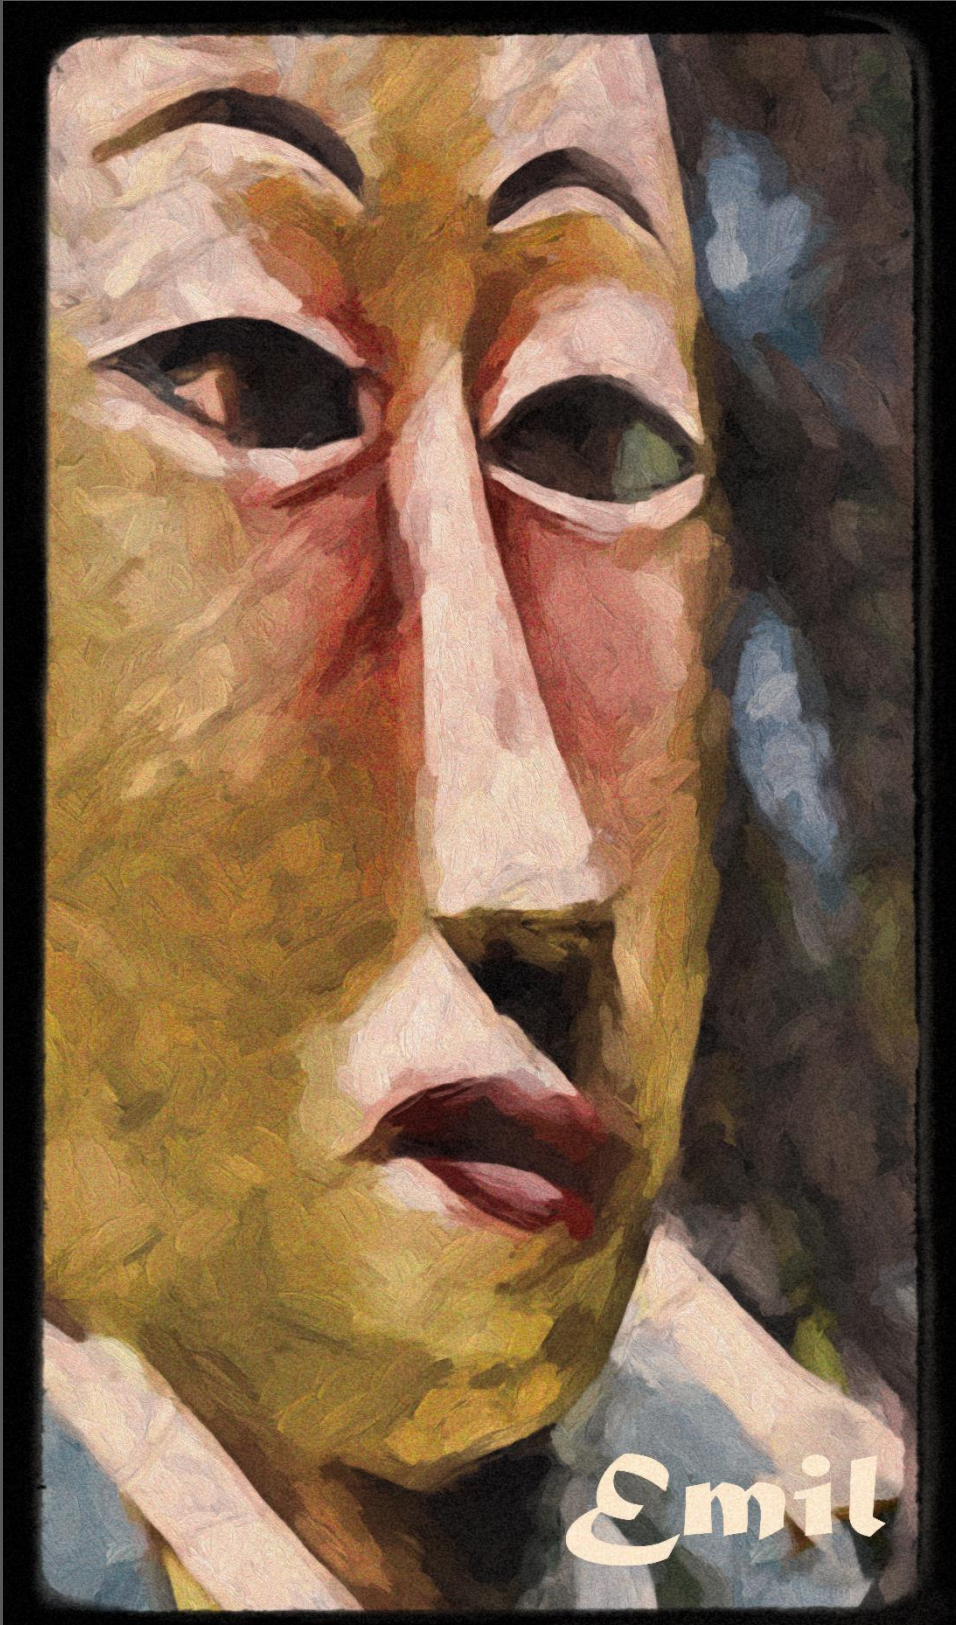

The Khan explained that these negotiations needed to be done there at the city’s main gates where all the common folks could see for themselves the destruction/the terror that awaited them, where they could better sense that their lives had been saved through the sheer kindness/generously of the Great Khan.

He understood the psychology of battle better than any other commander than I have been to the field with. He understood the sheer drama of the use of terror without having to inflect it.

By such actions, the common folks of the city stayed loyal to the Empire and the troublesome leaders could then be dispatched at will...many times by the citizens themselves...

“It works! But, my friend...to be truthful with you as you have always been with me...I did not originate this practice but, as a student of the Great Assyrian Empire... I discovered through my studies that this was the mightiest tool that they used to build one of history's greatest empires...this form of management was the exercise of sheer power...It worked until they grew too big, their leaders grew too fat, too greedy and they abandoned the very tool of their greatness and they were forever lost to history...this I also have learned!” That was remarkable honesty for a man of such high rank to admit that he was but, an excellent student of history and was able to adapt the administrative logo of a long dead civilization to his and the Empire's current benefit while totally understanding how/why it failed. To my humble thinking, this is what set him apart from his more connected, distant cousins who stood next to and advised the Great Leader, Mongke Khan in Khanbaliq. From what I have seen of his command out here on the frontier it is very sad to understand that he would never rise to greater power in the Federation of Clans due to his more distant birth from the direct line of the “Children of Genghis,” In the end, maybe my friends; he was where he needed to be and where he could best serve the Empire...and he playing his role in growing it stronger every day to counter the corrupt laziness of the Federation's grown dependence on the cadre of former administrative clerks from the former Imperial Court in old Peking. This was troubling to many more than me and if I as a “Foreign Devil” could easily see the truth that Mongke Khan has been too quick to adapt the corrupt lifestyle of the Juyongguan (Chinese) and with every step towards embracing the demons that had made the Chinese so weak, the Mongol Clan Leaders grew lazy and defeatist towards expanding the Empire.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

Were it not for true men of the Empire like Khan San-Tu, the Empire would quickly dissolve back into the mire from which it was only the great and the sheer will power of the Great Genghis Khan had risen then to be the Warrior Masters of all Asia (someday, the world?) The Chinese corrupt all that they touch and then, they are swift with the knife to your throat...this has been their way on conquest since before all recorded history.

They never could rule the battlefield on their own military powers unless they had already made a deal or outright owned the corrupt commanders of their facing foe and they never felt a need to establish the bounds that united the Great Army of Khan San-Tu.

I don't know by any ascertain fact or have definite proof of this fact but, my comments can be proven from my personal observation(s) of seeing the make-believe might of the Chinese Army in full flight away from the battlefield when faced up against a non-corrupt Mongol Horde Command.

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

TRAVELING WITH THE GRAND ARMY

Well my friend, I have troubled you far too much with this never ending letter and in the morning we ride to yet another great victory which will further expand the Empire under the war banners of Khan San-Tu and his Grand Army of Demons.

In my next letter, I will share my conversation as to why Khan San-Tu belied that his great uncle refused to invade and conquer the crown jewel of Asia...India...

I was much surprised and rather taken back by what he told me and since it was in great detail...

I shall reserve that to my next letter posting.

Send my love to the children!

THE SONY CD BOOMBOX WAILED OUT

The Sony CD Boombox wailed out Bobby Dylan singing
"I Don't Believe You." Every time I listen, years fade away and my connection to the lyrics still ring ever so crystal clear even in my failing ears and yet, tears still come freely to me...
Maybe, I'm just an old fool? Grown too soft with age????
But, I NEVER did learn to "Pretend that we never met..."

BOB DYLAN - I DON'T BELIEVE YOU

"I can't understand, she let go of my hand
An' left me here facing the wall
I'd sure like to know, why she did go
But I can't get close to her at all
Though we kissed through the wild blazing nighttime
She said she would never forget
But now morning is clear,
it's like I ain't here
She acts like we never met..."

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

FORCED MYSELF TO REMEMBER

The only thing I could force myself to remember was how long my life has been...Then, I can't help but recall all of those empty, utterly endless years of thoughtless wondering and whining about how unexciting my life really was...

What has dawned on me slowly, is that all the while I was lost in such mindless deliberations, the truth had secretly crypt up from behind my right shoulder and just as I saw the truth all a new, it slapped me right across the face with a grin of simple revelation of how it was my own fault due to the fact that I have consistently made nothing but bad choices, even worse selections and how I denied it all with boasts of have pride about how I always was able to kick opportunity away even when it bit me squarely on the butt...
“Failure seemed to be my most attractive feature...”

Still in denial, it seemed like this was nothing more than a special God given gift and who am I to challenge GOD???

"SO...IT REALLY ISN'T MY FAULT...IT WAS MY FATE..."

I snapped back!

All the same, I have been always quick and proud to brag about this consistent ability to release havoc and drama into what would have seemed a simple, straight forward path through life.

Yet again, understanding the weight of these truths, I have been told by more than a few former friends /family that this must somehow, in someway reflection upon who I really am and not what I would like or fancy myself to be.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

FORCED MYSELF TO REMEMBER

Truthful, this is the core of all my sad shack tales of misguided adventure and as to old lady luck's consistent amusement to set great opportunities in my path just to see how well and utterly I have developed to defeat, to rout victory and run it over the cliff – actually, I have literally done that... Another story for yet another time.

DEAR CAMPERS: Work on the new book is running along just swimmingly... Indeed, it seems that I am dog-paddling to completion here! Well...kind of...sort of...???

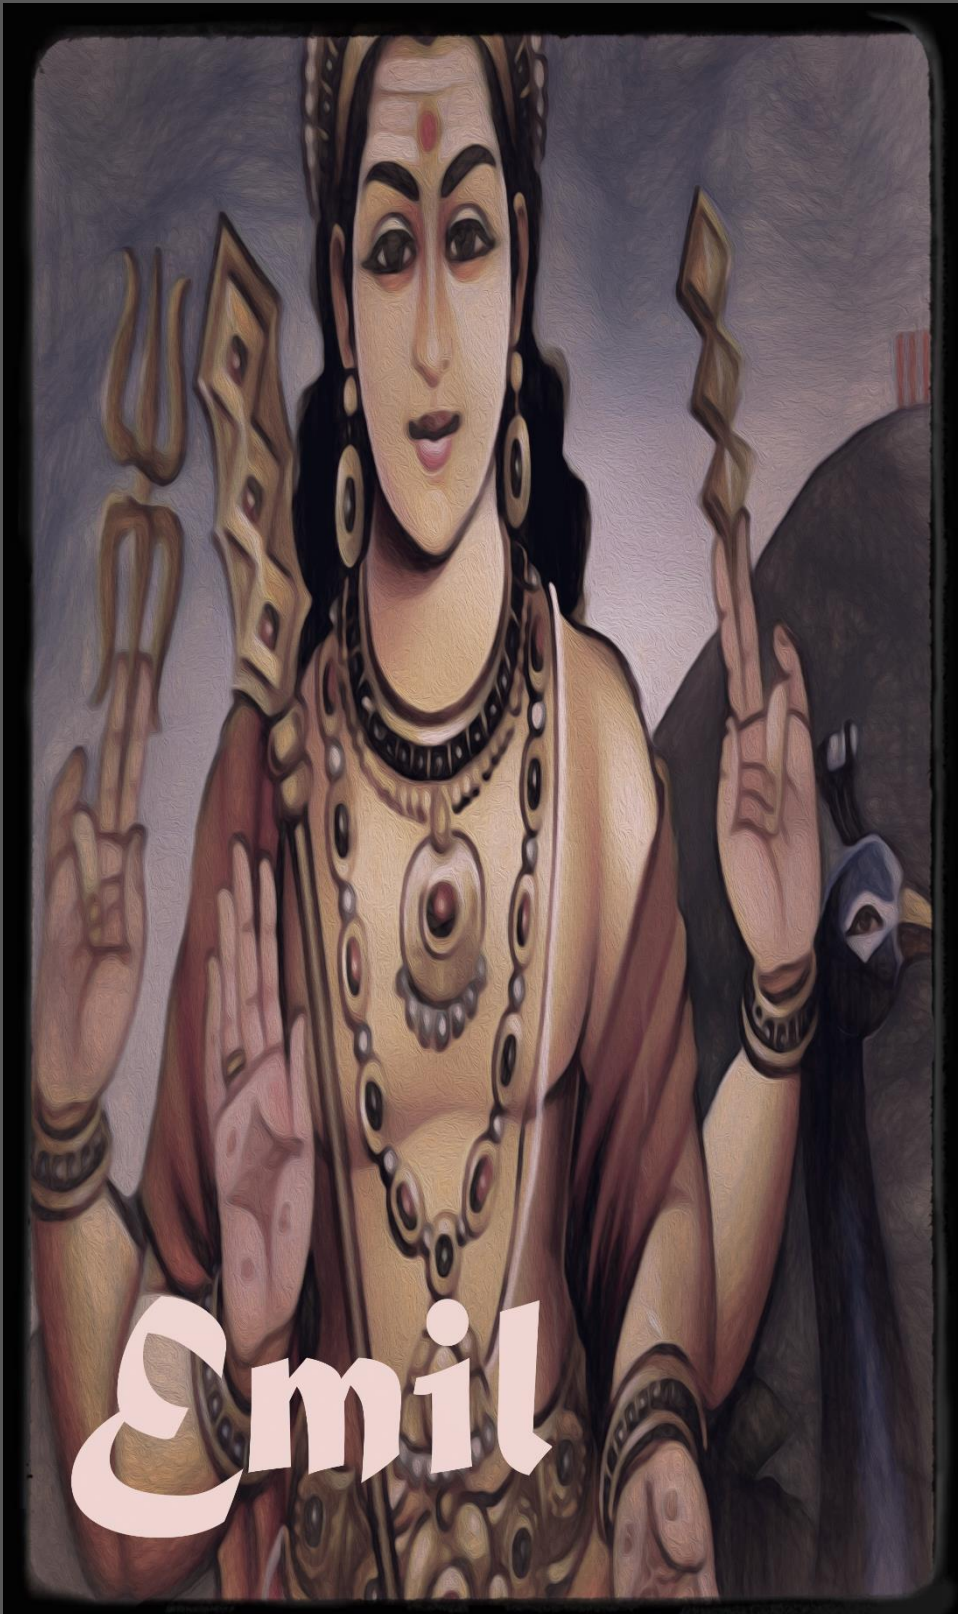

Seeing that I was handicapped by such a late start on the project...and given my earlier Jesuit Trained Thought Process... I am suddenly inspired toward the solution for reclaiming the moral high ground here while burying my engrained laziness within the multi-colored jacket that it is not me but it is the will of God...at play here!

“It must be written in the book of Life” and I am calling it an “Act of God” and who am I to challenge the will of God???”

I've got this...just had to figure that a summer of community service at the Catholic Mission would (after all these years) kick in at just the right time to explain my project lateness to Seine and his socialist accountant thugs at our now weekly Skype Conference Call in the AM...

While those thug accountants that Seine surrounds himself with these days may not be true believers but, Seine is a true believer and I must demonstrate that the pagans are wrong.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

"Are You Really a Foreign Devil?"

TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE!

In fact, 110 for the same!!! Check out this crazy deal from my corporate, evil, swine masters - the brainchild of their head socialist accountant (Mister Chuckie) and his minion of ex-CCP Communists and Skip Tracers that pose as his accounting staff...So much for living on my commissions!

Hey Chuckie Chuck...What is the commission on "0" ????

I will not bother you with Seine's and his corporate doublespeak nor will I try to impress you with their sales and marketing charts...as they didn't do anything more than piss-me-off!

They need to be thankful and I truly credit the plague virus for saving them from a first rate, old-fashion tongue lashing!!!

It might NOT be that peaceful of a protest there, in person...What a world that we are forced to live-in???

It's Bizarro World...Where former communists turn socialist accountants would put true capitalists to shame!

Free Enterprise...the creative mind...the truth is so trashed that Orwell would just shake his head and call "2020" nothing more than a trashy, third-rate and totally too far reaching fiction!

What shall we do? Who can we call?

How can we deal with living in this third-rate fiction novel (in real life) where former CCP Thugs and their corporate masters are the heroes and the starving artists are the villainy, revolutionaries who must be economically shackled and punished for their mere call for a little of Thomas Paine's "Common Sense"???? Given all this! Don't buy these books!

12 HOURS SINCE MY LAST POST

WHAT IS IT????

It's been over 12 hours since my last post...

Hope you weren't waiting.

If you have been...then Camper, I do worry (greatly) about how well you are doing in lockdown exile...

There are several online 12-step programs to address this...

OK...OK!

Not going to address the fact that your life so "sucks" that you were waiting for me to post (Right? David in the UK) but to the general concept that you (like me) have been in semi-isolation here in my Virus Plague Executive Lodge Cell Room.

“Are You Really a Foreign Devil?”

12 HOURS SINCE MY LAST POST

Please get the help that I walked away from due to my superior believe that I got this...I can handle anything that this #$$%# (can't print that word in Singapore nor Penang) Virus Plague can dish out...

Look...Like I survived it twice (First time in Rangoon where they said that it was between God and me as they had no medicine to help) and I am still going strong regardless of how many times the Immigration Clerks lock me up for my numerous escape attempts or how many times they catch me out-n-about with the cool crowd...the teenage (that mean anyone under 30-years-old here) curfew runners. Instead of all that normal jazz, I decided to get an early start (12-hours) today on this project - may be done within this week and my cadre of worried bill collectors will cheer that event - See guys! Regardless of what you think...I am concerned for your well-being in this Plague Year Part #2.

Let all these samples go on...and...on...

OH MY GOD!

The Humanity of it all...Samples are falling from the window...slipped under doors and pasted on bathroom stalls...

"Smoldering black smoke arose from every pile of rubble in what had once been the great Luciferian Capital and we ensured that none of made actual eye contact with the patrolling Heavenly Horde Militia as to not be stopped and harassed.

We passed through the wreckage to where we had set up camp and planned our escape from the encircling, victorious armies of Michael and his warrior clan.

POSTER SALES?

We have rarely if ever done such a thing but, Mr. Charles (WWWG's Guru Accountant) has determined that with current books sales, we will need an additional fifty-five years to recoup what Emil owes us in advances and overages on his expense account on the Hobo Tours.

So, Mr. Charles had the brilliant suggestion that we try to get Emil's few readers interested in Emil Posters and this edition was the collective creation of our Marketing Brain Trust & Mr. Charles.

As such and given the fact that Emil is still in bondage (his term for the lockdown in Penang), he was not consulted on any of this unless he would try another break to freedom by attempting to row out into the shipping lanes much as they tried in Gilligan's Island."

American Politicos are seriously talking of the ways and means to intern their political opposition – all 75 million of them into internment camps, talking children away from descent parents to re-educate them into the wonders of the dawn of this GREAT SOCIAL RESET.

I wish I was kidding or that this is a bad, direct-to-video Sci-Fi Movie instead of the lead story on both CNN and the BBC this morning.

“WELCOME BACK FRIENDS! Are you scratching your head and wondering why after all my complaining about Emil’s obsession with temples and the likes; why would I approve yet another temple-based book from Emil? I was too...believe me this was my good intention but, with the realities and circumstances of this dawn of the Brave New Social Reset, I had no better choice to make! Why?

Well...This is rather simple as Emil has been locked away on the Isle Of Penang for almost a year after the original 15-day lockdowns has turned into almost a year long internment and due to this simple fact, Emil has had to increasingly cannibalize the unused parts of his catalog to make something new.

“In Burmese, this means “Can I take a picture?” which is a phrase that has never crossed Emil’s lips even in English much less during his extended stay in Yangon in the year before the Plague.

Looking back, those were much simpler and happier times for nearly everyone around the globe.

This was a mere year ago but, in the dog years that the Plague unleashed upon all of humanity (sent out by the Gangsters of the CCP’s effort to rule the world) it might be vaguely recalled as if it were but some far remote, pre-historic event that seems to now fade further away with the passing of each new dog year, Plague Day.

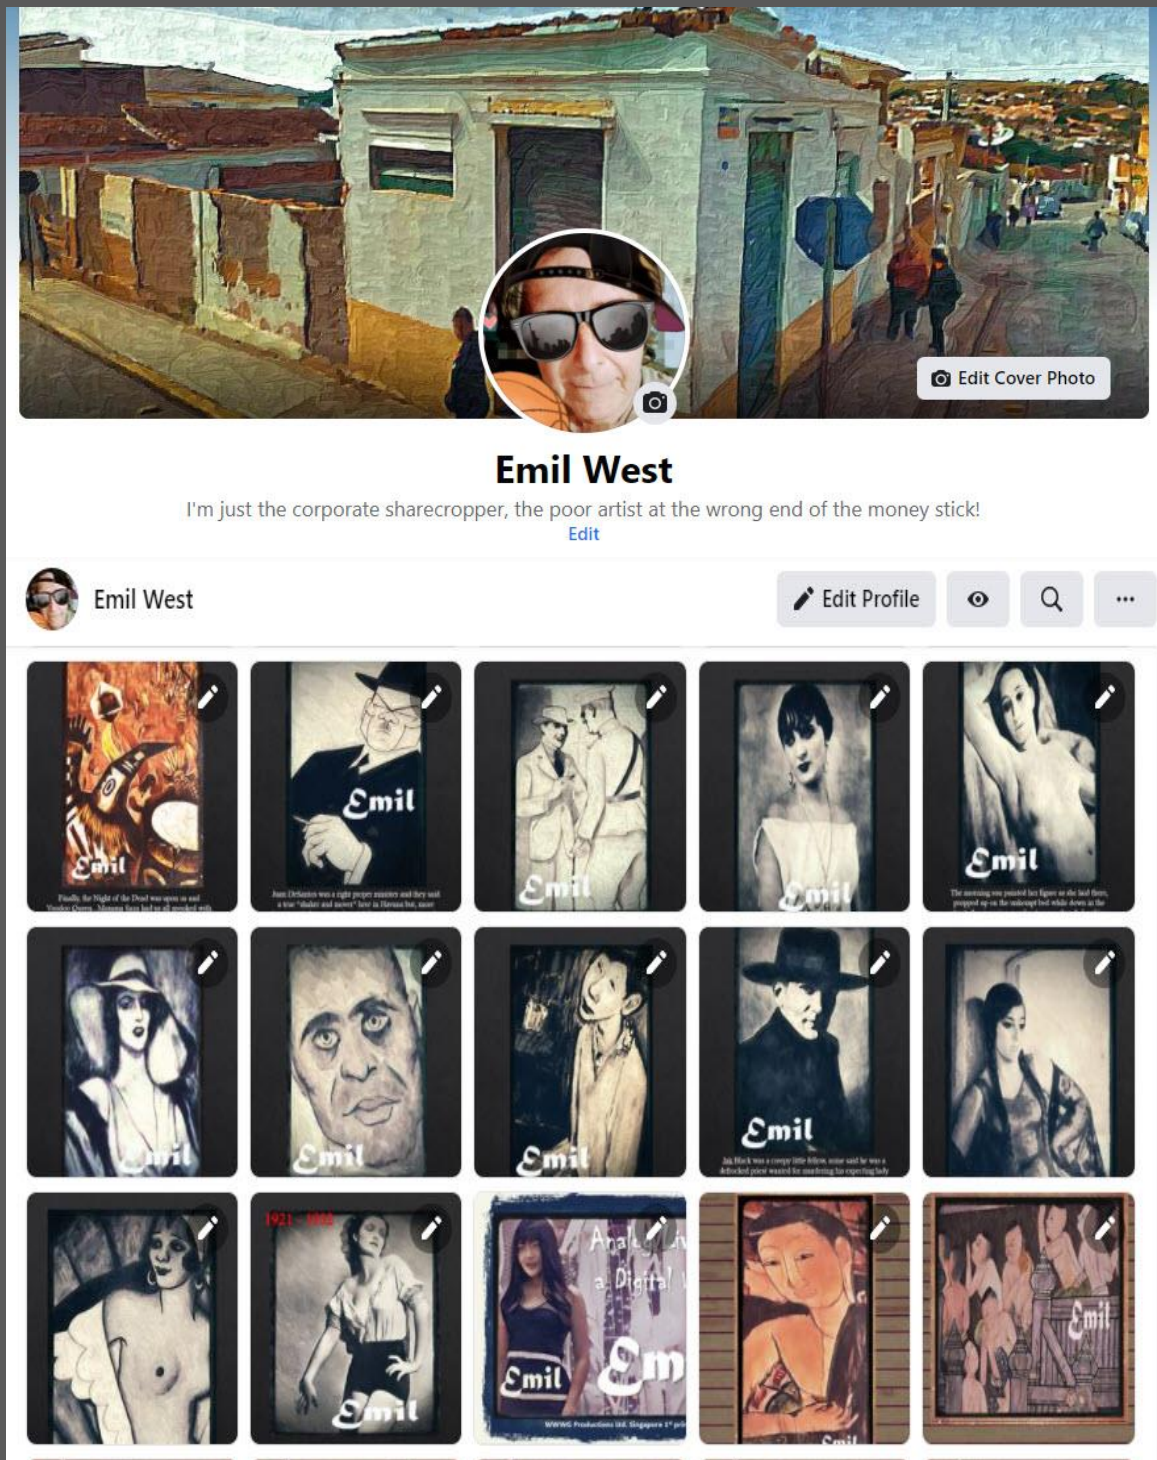

Emil’s chronicle of those happier days when people could openingly share a smile, shake an extended hand of friendship and move freely about...it is also stark to see how much we have given up due to our fears and to those who gleefully spread the fear.”
